JRM Public Access Plan comment form (final)

Comment Form for Public Access Plan

A plan to facilitate public access to cultural and historic sites located on DoD properties

The Programmatic Agreement for the Military Relocation to Guam and CNMI signed March 2011 states that the Department of Defense (DoD) will coordinate with the Guam and CNMI Historic Preservation Offices and all interested members of the public to develop a Public Access Plan for visiting cultural and historic sites that are under the responsibility of DoD on Guam and Tinian.

Consistent with this requirement, public comments are being sought to develop this Public Access Plan. The information provided by interested members of the community will significantly contribute to the development of a consistent and consolidated plan that supports traditional cultural practices on Guam and Tinian, and takes into consideration operational requirements of the Military.

Please provide your comments and include the following information by midnight (Guam-time) October 24, 2011 to be considered as input into the plan:

- The sites you find culturally important and would like to visit or have visited.
- The sites you would like to visit to responsibly gather plants and other natural materials for non-commercial traditional practices such as healing, crafts and ceremony.
- Types of plants or other natural materials at the location that is important to your traditional cultural practices, with its common name or traditional name.
- Best times of year, day or night for collection of plants or other natural materials
- Describe any traditional association or relationship you may have with particular historic properties, villages, or locations.

Privacy Act Statement: Information provided will be considered public information and may be subject to subsequent publication or disclosure. We are not requesting personally identifiable information as part of your comment; however, please note that some methods of submittal (i.e. electronic submittal) may inadvertently result in inclusion of personally identifiable information with your comment. Please ensure that your comment does not include personally identifiable information if you are concerned about possible disclosure of that information.

You may submit your comments in any one of the following ways:

- 1) Drop into one of the collection boxes located at Mayor's Offices and various other locations around the island. Locations will be noted in the local media and posted on the Guam Historic Preservation Office website: www.historicguam.org.
- 2) Mail your comment form to: Naval Facilities Engineering Command (NAVFAC) Marianas, DPRI Environmental, PSC 455 Box 195 FPO AP 96540.
